London March the 26

My dear Mrs Adams I have but had courage as you are to put pen to paper for some days past as I could bear write to you some certain your kindness to me from the loss of my brother will make you anxious to hear how I am & how I stood a dreary room so immediately after the sudden death of my dear & valued gentle - It is impossible to describe what I suffered during my stay in town but my health really was not suffered much I am so early relieved by tears that when in my own room I give my to them & that bed and are a part of all - but judge

I must have been when I tell you that I thought she has been subject to these violent spasms in her head since last summer & that I found her greatly altered, & indeed I may add some altered every time I went to Dorset - got on Sunday the 17th of the day she died of the was so small that she was not in her carriage had a long visit in her chamber & from Lady & by George's death a good dinner note and a long cheerful letter & indeed I received that evening at 9 o'clock the complaint of the disease Mrs. Gordon sent for Sir J. Mather when when he came ordered he to be carried up stairs put to bed she & had her head & she recovered so much he left her satisfied all was going on well but she feared her last at half past 12. I think that night & in evening that she was dead in minutes before they had any idea of it - I only in morning the morning Miss Gurnea sent the account to Mrs Beckwith to send back it to us & on several in mind to come - so I took her a time to recover myself & the boys stayed to our escort in the L's room. We have a great fatigue to body & mind you know the L's don't understand people appearing out of spirits from Gully, love for us & reason for her I had been a constant subject - Thank God she has not reminded her since the day she heard of her death & that was written us to go through all we had to do much later than we should therefore - I was help given immediately after I got to London as she was pleased to enquire to deliver into our hands a letter she left note to write of us found with her will which is a picture of her heart all affair please for us all - God may bliss what I suffered in opening that letter & the are addressed to your Aunt. She has left her legacy but to our Sister having fifty Pounds a Year to purchase God's place and her under many Years & left her to Ann - my thing she to Miss Gunn for her life & then to Miss Gunn for her - She left me what she always told me she would her Gunn book case and a Book - You know how I loved Gunn & how much reason I had to do so as she had ever been opposite & near to me therefore you may please what by about is suffering & it will be long my my long before I can move her legs - but these trials are good for us - & I am sure I shall not recall her look of I could feel any certain she is enjoying the Rejoice of a well spent life - but to be sure nothing could be so unfortunate as this kind of trouble happening just now as we are called upon to go in often to London and so much is arranging to get the Indulgences done that at Paris we will

 will be even
 I am
 the joy

My dear Mother - I have been all but in bed - they have been very good to me

Yours
Mother

I hope soon to leave you and have good news to tell you concerning us - I am delighted to see William taking my milk at his dinner time but I am sorry - love to Anne when I write is quite well again
