

W. Weymouth
March 25th 1774
^m 25. p. 8. P.M.

2851

(2)

As the House of Commons was likely to sit late to day on the extraordinaries of the Army, the meeting of your Majesty's servants is appointed to be at my Office tomorrow at twelve o'clock, as soon as it shall be over,
I will not fail to attend your Majesty with the result of the deliberation.

^m
25 past eight P.M.

