My dearest Countess,

I came to Town so late last night that it was not in my power to write & to tell you how anxious I am to see the dear child. I therefore desire that you will bring her to Town by twelve tomorrow, & after I have seen her the King with whom I dined this day has expressed a wish that she should meet him at St. James's, with which command I shall be most happy to comply. I am my dear

Countess,

Ever most affectionately
Your affectionate Son
